

135.299 line check should be eliminated from the rule. The fractional rule (91K) does not require the line check. Both rules should be in concert concerning pilot training and testing requirements.